Vragenboekje

Dit examen bestaat uit 45 vragen.
Voor elk vraagnummer is aangegeven hoeveel punten met een goed antwoord behaald kunnen worden.

Geef niet meer antwoorden (zinnen, redenen, voorbeelden e.d.) dan er worden gevraagd.
Als er bijvoorbeeld één zin wordt gevraagd en je antwoordt met meer dan één zin, dan wordt alleen de eerste zin in de beoordeling meegeteld.

*De vragen kunnen gesloten zijn (meerkeuzevragen) of open.
Schrijf al je antwoorden op het examenpapier dat je van je school hebt gekregen.
Noteer bij de meerkeuzevragen alleen de hoofdletter die hoort bij het goede antwoord.

‘Do you think women get ripped off as consumers, paying more than men?’ (titel tekst 2)
Welke drie van de ondervraagde personen zijn van mening dat vrouwen in sommige gevallen meer betalen voor hetzelfde product dan mannen (tekst 2)?

Voices: Do you think women get ripped off as consumers, paying more than men?

Studies show women often pay higher prices for laundry, haircuts, alterations and cars than men. USA TODAY asked readers for their views.

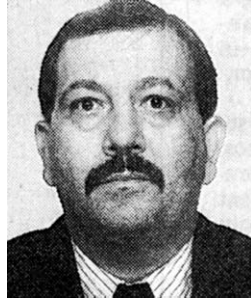

Greg Skinner, 37
Florist shop owner
Grove City, Ohio

In the flower business, we offer the same prices to everybody. It has been my experience that women are much better shoppers. They are less impulsive. Men buy more on a whim. Anybody who tries to be a little slipshod to females is making a grave mistake.

Marian Howell, 77
Retired
Los Angeles, Calif.

Unless they are very knowledgeable and can stand toe-to-toe with service people who are male, women stand a chance of not being treated as fairly as men. It is interesting you would ask this. I'm getting ready to pick up a male to go with me to have my car repaired.

Randall Pugmire, 44
Marketing rep.
Provo, Utah

Yes, especially for haircuts and cars. It also depends on how hungry a salesperson, or management, is for a sale. Overall, women are taken advantage of. I think this might be more on a regional basis — this might happen more in the East than in the West.

Mary McCann, 56
Secretary
Port Allegany, Pa.

I see all the bills for the things that my husband buys, and he pays the same prices for things that I would pay. In this area, I have never really seen a difference in prices for men vs. women.

Paris Cooks Jr., 27
Public relations rep.
Detroit, Mich.

Most salespeople in the retail industry will look at women and try to run a scam on them. Some salespeople prey on women because they don't think women know as much as men do about certain things, like cars.

- 1p 3 ■ Van wie zou de klacht in het onderstaande artikeltje (tekst 3) afkomstig kunnen zijn?
- A De directie van een school.
 - B Een aantal jongens.
 - C Eigenaren van snackbars.
 - D Enkele meisjes.
 - E Ouders van leerlingen.

School downers

Apparently, to get us to swot more, schools are bribing pupils. A school in Hertford has done a deal with McDonalds to give away Big Macs in exchange for 100 per cent attendance, and other schools are offering movie tickets. This really sucks. How can we bribe girls to go to the cinema and burger bar with us, when the school's got in there first?

- 1p 4 ■ Wat wordt in het onderstaande artikel (tekst 4) duidelijk over Madonna?
- A Ze is erg boos over de kritiek op de vader van haar baby.
 - B Ze is gevraagd om artikelen te schrijven voor een roddelblad.
 - C Ze is heel negatief over een aantal beroemde personen.
 - D Ze is in een harde concurrentiestrijd met collega's verwickeld.

tekst 4

Bitchiness is back in vogue with Madonna

IMPENDING motherhood has done nothing to soothe superstar Madonna's bitchiness.

She lashes out at stars like Sandra Bullock, Demi Moore, Mick Jagger, ex-husband Sean Penn, and even America's man of letters, Norman Mailer in the next issue of Vogue magazine.

The 37-year-old star, who is expecting a baby girl in a few weeks, says Jagger is an ageing rocker who will not change with the years. And Madonna — whose hits include Vogue and Material Girl — questions the talent of Bullock and Moore, who command seven-figure salaries.

But surely she has a few kind phrases for Carlos Leon, the father of her baby? Well, in a word, no. She refuses to discuss their relationship.

- 1p 5 ■ 'New monkey found in Brazilian rain forest' (titel tekst 5)
Hoe is Marc van Roosmalen in aanraking gekomen met het aapje volgens het onderstaande artikel (tekst 5)?
Hij heeft het aapje
- A gekregen van een onbekende.
 - B ontdekt tijdens zijn reizen door het oerwoud.
 - C toevallig gevonden in een boot.
 - D voor veel geld gekocht van een handelaar.

New monkey found in Brazilian rain forest

At 10.1 centimetres and around 158 grams, it's the second smallest primate ever discovered

BY MICHAEL ASTOR
Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO – A Dutch scientist has discovered the world's second-smallest monkey species in the Brazilian rain forest, a scientific plum that was literally handed to him.

A man showed up on the doorstep of Marc van Roosmalen's primate orphanage in Manaus, 2,900 kilometres northwest of Rio de Janeiro, in April, 1996, carrying a can containing a tiny monkey. It was mouse-sized and greenish-gray, with a white fringe around its face, a black crown and a black tail.

"As soon as I saw it I knew it was something new. But I couldn't show my excitement because if the guy knew he had something valuable he might have kept it," Mr. van Roosmalen said.

Finding the black-headed sagui dwarf, as Mr. van Roosmalen dubbed it, was the easy part.

To prove it was a new species, Mr. van Roosmalen needed to find a few more of them, but all he knew was that the monkey had been found on a boat coming down the Rio Madeira.

It took him more than a year of hiking around the jungle until he located them near the Rio Aripuana.

The black-headed sagui dwarf monkey is one of seven new primate species discovered in as many years. (Associated Press)

You can't lick Tixylix for a taste they prefer

When children have a cough or cold that needs soothing it's not beneficial if they won't take their medicine because they don't like its taste. You get frustrated, they get upset and everybody continues to suffer.

That's when Tixylix proves a clear winner. The Tixylix range of children's medicines is tailor made to suit different types of cough and cold symptoms, and it provides the right ingredients at the right dosage for their age.

But, just as importantly, we've devoted a lot of time and care to getting the taste just right.

Mums and children have helped us develop a medicine that can be given without a murmur.

In fact, in recent tests Tixylix Catarrh Syrup, the latest addition

Tixylix

Paediatric Medicines

Specially made for children to the range, proved that when it comes to taste Tixylix has the competition licked. And once past their mouth Tixylix Catarrh Syrup gets on with clearing up their congestion, as well as soothing their cough, so you all get welcome relief.

Next time your child has a cough or cold your pharmacist will advise you which Tixylix your child needs.

Always read the label. (Tixylix Daytime contains pholcodine, Tixylix Chesty Cough contains guaiphenesin)

- 1p 7 ■ Waarom is het horloge volgens de onderstaande advertentie (tekst 7) vooral aantrekkelijk?
- A Het blijft almaar lopen als je het af en toe een tikje geeft.
 - B Het is bestand tegen de klappen die het kan oplopen bij het sporten.
 - C Het loopt heel lang op een klein beetje lichtenergie.

| TELEPHONE | Freephone 0800 265297 | 01794 526463 | 01925 667788 |
| PRICE | £ 20.50 | £ 20 | £ 21.50 |
| PRESENTATION | A very pleasant man delivered the flowers within hours. They were wrapped in a lovely patterned Cellophane and finished with two big red bows which matched the bouquet — very attractive. | The flowers were delivered by a friendly lady. They were very prettily wrapped in Cellophane printed with butterflies and were tied round with a big pink bow and ribbon. | The delivery person just handed the flowers over without comment so it could have been potatoes that he was delivering! They were wrapped in Cellophane, tissue paper and a ribbon. |
| CONTENT | Red carnations, lilies, lavatera, alstroemeria, and sprigs of white and green foliage. Sadly, two of the flowers were broken, one beyond use. Flower food and the message card were both included. | Pink and white carnations, red and pink statice, dark pink and peach chrysanthemums and white eustoma. Flower food was included. Not all the message had been put on the card — instead of "with love Caroline", it read "wil Caroline". | Summer Bouquet: Chrysanthemums, unusual deep purple carnations, some lovely gerberas and alstroemeria. Flower food included. The message card was taped to the outside of the box underneath the address label, so it was pretty hard to spot! |
| VERDICT | "Very good value in that most of the flowers were in bud and only just opening. Having specified red as a favourite colour, it was good to see the florist had done her best to comply. Considering the short notice, it was an extremely good selection of flowers. I would send a similar bouquet myself." | "Plenty of flowers for the money, although nothing particularly unusual except for the eustoma. We'd specifically asked for some red flowers such as roses, as it was "a favourite colour", so it was disappointing to find just one piece of red statice was included." | "Plenty of volume but rather dominated by the mass of pink chrysanthemums. I thought it was of average value for money. For £20 I would have expected some more unusual stems and foliage. I wouldn't have paid more than £15 for them." |

'Your views on school uniform' (ondertitel tekst 9)

Smart and respectable or unfashionable bore?

YOUR VIEWS ON SCHOOL UNIFORM

IN AN effort to control fashion contests in the classroom, parents and teachers are calling for a return to the traditional school uniform. We asked Early Times readers for their views on the subject. Ginny Armstrong, 12, of Warwickshire: "If we didn't have school uniform, people would take us by what we wore. Some people go by what you wear instead of your personality. If you didn't look right, you wouldn't fit in. Maybe you would lose friends. I think it's wrong. People shouldn't judge by what you wear but what you are. But it doesn't work out like that."

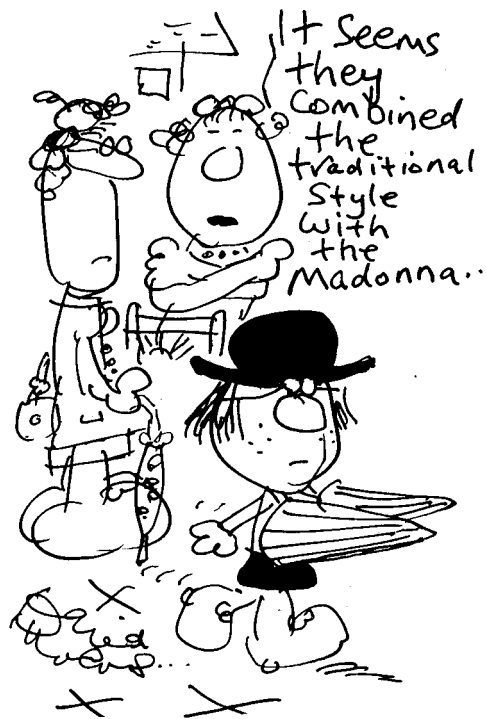

Her school uniform is a grey A-line skirt with a yellow shirt, a black and yellow tie, a grey V-necked jumper and a black blazer with the school emblem. "It looks very neat. It's quite good – you don't have to get up in the morning and choose what you are going to wear. It fits in with school very well, I don't enjoy wearing it, but it's all right."

Toby Weston, 10, of London: "We can wear anything really. Most people wear T-shirts. You can wear trainers – there's a lot of Adidas and Nike and Reebok. They are the most popular – you don't see many people wear other sorts of shoes – only the not-so-rich. Big tongues are important."

"Children became addicted to fashion and looking good. I don't think that's good. That's one reason I think uniform is better."

Rebecca Hill, 9, of Northampton: "I like school uniform generally. I feel it looks smart. It's easier to recognise which school you come from. It's as if you are a member of that school."

Rebecca wears a light blue skirt with dark blue purse belt, royal blue skirt and jumper, and a black blazer with the school shield. "I like the colours in it."

Ross McLennan, 14, of Merseyside: "It's more comfortable to wear your own clothes, but you look smarter when everyone's wearing the same uniform. I'm quite happy with it. It makes you stand out."

Ross has to wear a white shirt with a tie, blazer and black trousers. Without uniform he believes people would be judged by their appearance. "People would be conscious of how they looked compared to their class mates. That's not really a good thing."

Tekst 10 “I’m not stupid, I’m dyslexic”

- 1p 11 ■ What becomes clear about some teachers from paragraph 1 (lines 1–10)?
- A They are dyslexic without realising it.
 - B They have no idea how to deal with dyslexia.
 - C They refuse to believe pupils who say that they are dyslexic.
- ‘When I was 10, Mum took me to be tested for dyslexia.’ (paragraph 4)
- 1p 12 ■ What was the effect of the test results on Kerry?
- A She became depressed because she had not been recognised as dyslexic.
 - B She was afraid that her mother would want her to do better at school.
 - C She was happy that the test had proved that her intelligence was all right.
- 1p 13 ■ What can be concluded about Kerry’s teachers from paragraph 5?
- A They knew that she was dyslexic but were still angry about the poor quality of her work.
 - B They realised that she was dyslexic but they made it clear that they could not help her.
 - C They seemed not to notice that her learning difficulties were caused by dyslexia.
 - D They tried to help her cope with her dyslexia but this did not have much effect.
- 1p 14 ■ What were Kerry’s experiences in her first job, according to paragraph 6?
- A Having writing problems, she decided to use the telephone as much as possible.
 - B She did not like the work so she quit after her trial period.
 - C She was fired because her colleagues could not understand her notes.
 - D The job was not right for her and she lost it.
- ‘I was so angry’ (lines 71–72).
- 1p 15 ■ Why was Kerry so angry?
- A Because her school was only willing to give her extra reading lessons after the test.
 - B Because her sister’s handicap had been recognised much earlier than hers.
 - C Because nobody had ever wanted to believe that she was very intelligent.
 - D Because she did not want to accept the fact that she was dyslexic.
 - E Because with the right support her school results would have been far better.
- 1p 16 ■ What does Kerry want to make clear in lines 79–81 (‘It was nothing ... for me.’)?
- A She has no trouble reading any more.
 - B She is proud of herself.
 - C She is uncertain about herself.
 - D She still does not like reading.
